GROUNDWATER CRISIS - STEP UP ACTION:

India is facing its worst groundwater crisis in history with water resources fast depleting and available water getting increasingly contaminated. A recent study found that about 450 cubic kilometres of groundwater was lost in northern India during 2002-2021. Climate change will further accelerate the depletion in the coming years.

The World Bank had once estimated that 60 percent of the country's groundwater blocks would be in a critical condition by 2025. The year has already arrived. A UN report has said that some parts of the Indo-Gangetic basin have already passed the groundwater depletion tipping point.

A recent Central Ground Water Board (CGWB) report has pointed out that there is a rise in water contamination across the country. It said 440 districts reported excessive nitrate levels in groundwater, up from 359 districts in 2017. Karnataka is among States that have reported the highest contamination. Fluoride and uranium contamination is also high in many States, including Karnataka. Water contamination is known to cause major health problems including Blue Baby Syndrome in infants. Excessive use of fertilisers and pesticides, hazardous waste dumping, landfills and deforestation are all causes of groundwater contamination. Steps should be taken to identify contamination and end it — Karnataka must pay special attention to the problem by initiating targeted mitigation efforts.

HR manager cheats company of 2.2 million dollars

Shangai: The HR manager of a technology company was imprisoned for defrauding his company of millions of dollars by "hiring" dozens of fake employees and collecting their salaries.

Back in 2022, employees in the finance department of a Shanghai technology company discovered something strange. Xiao Sun, an employee who had been with the company for six months, had perfect attendance that whole period, seemed to be a complete mystery. No one had ever seen them or knew anything about them. The investigation uncovered a massive fraud orchestrated by a single HR manager.

Over eight years, Yang "hired" 22 non-existent employees and collected their monthly wages. Unfortunately at the end of 2022, someone noticed Xiao Sun's perfect attendance record, noting that no one had ever seen them. It didn't take long for investigators to reach Yang, who admitted to stealing around 16 million yuan ($2.2 million).

Woman poisons co-worker over promotion

Abadia de Goias: A textile worker in Brazil's Goias state stands accused of poisoning a co-worker's water bottle after quarrelling with them over what the woman considered an unfair promotion.

The incident occurred last month at a textile factory in Abadia de Goias. Police claim that the 38-year-old suspect was caught by CCTV cameras tampering with another worker's drink container before the latter drank from it and felt a burning sensation in her throat. Subsequent analysis of the container found a high concentration of potent solvent in the water. Witnesses testified that the two women used to be friends, but their relationship went sour after the victim received a promotion. They fought all the time and had an argument prior to the poisoning.

Reduce traffic hazards on Subhashnagar 2nd Main

Sir,

I am writing to highlight a critical issue that has been causing inconvenience and endangering lives in our area. The problem pertains to 2nd Main, Subhashnagar, near the Old Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway.

A garage situated adjacent to the main road routinely uses the road as a parking area for vehicles under repair.

This misuse of public space creates significant traffic bottlenecks and poses grave risks to commuters, especially at the 2nd Main intersection leading to the highway.

Just today, a near-fatal accident occurred when a passing truck on the main road was obscured from view due to a car parked by the garage mechanics. Such incidents are distressingly frequent.

What adds to the frustration is that this issue has been reported multiple times in the past, but no concrete action has been taken by the authorities.

I am deeply disappointed with the lack of response from the Traffic and Police Departments. Their continued inaction reflects a disregard for public safety and the well-being of the community.

I once again appeal to the authorities concerned to enforce parking regulations and take necessary measures, such as penalising offenders or relocating the garage's operations, to prevent further accidents and ensure smooth traffic flow on the busy road.

DC urges vigilance to prevent forest fires

Warns of legal action under Disaster Management Act for public non-co-operation to douse fires

Mysuru, Mar. 7 (BCT)- With summer approaching, the forest fire risk is rising. To tackle this challenge, Deputy Commissioner (DC) G. Lakshmikanth Reddy has urged the Forest and Fire Departments to remain on high alert and emphasised public co-operation in fire prevention efforts.

Reddy

Chairing a meeting at the DC Office, Reddy acknowledged the effective coordination between the two departments, preventing major disasters so far.

He stressed the importance of pre-emptive measures to curb fire outbreaks and called for swift response mechanisms in case of unavoidable incidents.

Commendation for swift response

The DC commended Fire Department officers Chandan and Gururaj for their efficiency in managing critical situations, including the collapse of the Maharani's College building, T. Narasipur Kumbha Mela and the recent fire at Chamundi Hill.

Reddy instructed authorities to identify water sources near fire-prone areas and urged nearby factories, malls and the general public to promptly provide water and other facilities when requested. He warned that failure to co-operate would invite strict action under the National Disaster Management Act.

He assured that funds from District Disaster Management Unit would be allocated for procuring advanced fire-fighting equipment and vehicles for the Forest and Fire Departments.

Public role in fire prevention

The DC called upon residents, particularly those living near forested areas, to immediately report any signs of fire. He cautioned against discarding cigarette butts carelessly, as they are a major cause of wildfires.

Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Dr. Malathi Priya highlighted a recent fire incident on Chamundi Hill, which was quickly controlled due to prompt action by the fire and forest personnel. She noted that watch towers have been installed with stationed personnel to monitor and respond to potential threats. She requested additional funds for enhanced fire-fighting measures.

DCF Dr. K.N. Basavaraju detailed various precautionary steps, including identifying fire-prone zones, assigning dedicated personnel, and conducting public awareness campaigns. The meeting was attended by Mysuru City Corporation Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif and officials from many departments.

Unauthorised construction at Golf Club

Race Club gets MCC notice to halt construction

Mysuru, Mar. 7 (BCT)- The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has issued a notice to the Mysore Race Club (MRC) regarding certain unauthorised construction activities at Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Golf Club (JWGC), directing it to immediately halt work at the Golf Hut located within the MRC premises.

Responding to multiple news reports in local newspapers and electronic media regarding the issue, MCC's Zonal Commissioner, Zone-1, issued the notice dated Feb. 28, 2025, affirming that the construction was being carried out without necessary approvals.

The notice clearly states that the construction violates municipal regulations and has been deemed illegal under the Karnataka Municipal Corporation Act, 1976.

The MRC, which received the notice, has conveyed MCC's directive to JWGC, instructing them to stop all construction activities immediately. Failure to comply will invite action under Section 321 of the Karnataka Municipal Corporation Act, 1976.

A press release from the MRC stated that the notice further strengthens MRC's stance that the ongoing construction lacks authorisation. A copy of the notice has been sent to the JWGC to comply with MCC's order.

However, MRC officials stated that JWGC has not halted construction this morning despite being served the notice. Workers were seen continuing the work, with the latest update confirming that they are laying the ceiling for the roof of the unauthorised structure while others carry out related building tasks.

Refusal to provide water to douse Chamundi Hill fire

Notice issued to Mall of Mysore seeking explanation for violation

Mysuru, Mar. 7 (BLU&BCT)- Mysuru Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy has issued a notice to the administration of Mall of Mysore for refusing to provide water to fire trucks during the recent Chamundi Hill forest fire. The notice has been addressed to Sandeep, Vice-President of the Mall, located on M.G. Road.

On Feb. 2, a massive fire broke out on the slopes of Chamundi Hill, engulfing large parts of the forest. As fire-fighting operations intensified, Mall of Mysore — situated nearby — was instructed to supply water to fire trucks. However, despite direct orders from Additional Deputy Commissioner Dr. P. Shivaraju, the Mall administration refused, delaying efforts to contain the blaze, officials stated.

The refusal constitutes a violation of the Disaster Management Act, 2005, which permits authorities to requisition resources from any entity or individual during emergencies. "In disaster situations, all available resources must be mobilised for rescue and relief operations. When water was urgently needed to douse the fire, the stored supply at the Mall was requested for use," said DC Lakshmikanth Reddy.

Despite the District Administration's directive, the Mall withheld the water, hindering fire-fighting operations and exacerbating the crisis. A notice has now been served to Sandeep, questioning why action should not be taken under the Disaster Management Act for this failure.

The Mall has been given three days to provide a written explanation. Failure to respond within the stipulated time will result in further legal action under the Act, the DC warned.

MCC Commissioner delegates power for ease of property tax collection

Mysuru, Mar. 7 (RK&BS)- The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has ordered for decentralisation of power related to creation, transferring, changing and making modifications to the new Person Identifier (PID) in the software exclusively meant for collecting property tax.

Shaikh Tanveer Asif

Following a Government notification issued on Feb. 11, MCC Commissioner Shaikh Tanveer Asif had issued a circular on Feb. 28, stating that he has delegated power to certain officers, as per the virtue of power vested with him under Section-66 of Karnataka Municipal Corporations Act 1976, to facilitate creation new PIDs, transfer, amend and make changes in the online calculation software, in public interest.

Accordingly, the Zonal Officers, Deputy Commissioner (Revenue) and Estate Officers have been granted powers to approve the processes related to prevailing property tax, levy on building or non-building properties, registration of 'A-Khata' and 'B-Khata', issuance of demand notice, collection of tax and serving of attachment warrant to collect tax among others.

Armed Cops for vehicle checking in city !

Mysuru, Mar. 7 (BLU&BS)- To create a fearless atmosphere in city, the City Police have deployed a new Nakabandi system, — armed Police personnel at regular inspection of vehicles.

For three days, armed Cops have been keeping an eye out for any persons moving in a suspicious manner or get aggressive when their vehicles are stopped for checking.

Barring the recent Udayagiri violence, no major untoward incidents have been reported in the city, but still the cops have roped in armed police reportedly to send a message of safety and security to the public.

The new Nakabandi system covers the highways at the contours of the city like — Mysuru-Bengaluru Road, T. Narasipur Road, Nanjangud Road, Hunsur Road — along with several residential areas.

Till recently, the lathi wielding Policemen were regularly a part of the inspection drive but now they have been replaced by the gun-toting Cops.

The intent behind the new system is to deter the habitual offenders involved in house burglary, theft, dacoity, chain snatching, vehicle theft among several other commonly reported crime cases to name a few.

City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar told Star of Mysore that Nakabandi is in place at 36 points including covering all entry and exit points of the city.

The inspection points will be frequently changed, besides Police resorting to surprise drives, the City Police Commissioner added.

The personnel attached to respective Police Station, Traffic Cops and those exclusively on Nakabandi will be on duty.

House burgled at Nandini Layout

Mysuru, Mar. 7 (SBD&KS)- Burglars, who gained entry into a house using a duplicate key, have decamped with cash and gold jewellery from the house.

The burglary took place at the house of Mayanga at Nandini Layout 1st Stage. Burglars have made away with Rs. 3.5 lakh cash, 25 grams of gold jewellery including one pair of gold earrings, one gold chain and a gold bracelet among other gold items.

On Mar. 1, Mayanga, along with his wife and son had gone to Mandya from where they left to Medini village in T. Narasipur and stayed overnight. When they inspected the almirah, they found Rs. 50,000 cash also stolen.

CM presents Budget

Notably, while there has been a demand from within the Congress to cut down spending on the five guarantees, the CM has reiterated that there is no proposal to reduce the funds for the schemes, which were earmarked Rs. 52,000 crore in the previous Budget.

The CM said that liquor prices are likely to be reviewed and increased to match rates in neighbouring states. Excise tax collection last year stood at Rs. 36,500 crore; target set at Rs. 40,000 crore for the coming year.

Movie tickets at Rs. 200

One of the most significant announcements is the Statewide cap on movie ticket prices at Rs. 200, aimed at making cinema more accessible to the public.

This move addresses a long-standing issue in Karnataka's film industry, where multiplexes have charged as much as Rs. 500 to Rs. 1,000 for premium screenings, especially for high-budget Kannada and international films.

Further supporting the Kannada film industry, the Government has also unveiled plans to launch a state-backed OTT platform to promote regional content.

Green mobility

In a major push towards sustainable urban mobility, the Budget allocates 9,000 new electric buses to the Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) under various central and externally aided projects.

A total of 14,750 electric buses will be inducted across Karnataka, including Mysuru in 2025-26 under schemes such as PM e-DRIVE, PM-eBus Sewa, and other externally funded projects.

Additionally, the Government plans to introduce 1,000 new diesel buses across different state transport corporations under the Gross Cost Contract (GCC) model to improve connectivity in regions where electric mobility is yet to gain traction.

Cooperative fiscal federalism

Highlighting Karnataka's reputation for prudent fiscal management and disciplined debt handling, Siddaramaiah noted that the State is the first in the country to integrate off-budget borrowings into total liabilities.

However, he criticised the Union government for failing to fully compensate GST revenue losses, withholding cesses and surcharges, and reducing tax devolution as per the Fifteenth Finance Commission's recommendations, exacerbating Karnataka's fiscal challenges.

He stated that these financial constraints have impacted the State's ability to sustain long-term growth while ensuring social justice. To address this, Karnataka has strongly advocated before the Sixteenth Finance Commission for a greater share in tax devolution, urging the commission to strike a fair balance between equity and growth to uphold a robust and cooperative fiscal federalism.

MYSTIC'S MUSINGS

By Sadhguru - Founder, Isha Foundation

Exclusion in Inclusiveness

Question: I have noticed that you have emphasised on inclusiveness. I am making an attempt to be as inclusive as possible by breaking my own barriers, but social upbringing has taught me that one should be exclusive — exclusive clothes, watch, shoes, car, home, designer stuff, etc. Not only that, I have to offer exclusive products and services at work and make the customers feel that they are getting exclusive products and services. I have to offer exclusivity while feeling inclusive about the customer. It appears to me to be in contradiction with my ultimate objective of being inclusive. So I am confused. Could you please help me become clearer in my perception and understanding?

Sadhguru: Inclusiveness does not mean you have to go and hug everyone on the street. Yoga is about enhancing the interiority of who you are. The outside has to be conducted as it needs to be conducted. When you are driving on the street and you see a buffalo, if you go and give it a kiss and say, "Please move away," it's not going to work. The buffalo is behaving according to its nature. You are not behaving according to your nature. This is not because of inclusion, this is because of confusion.

Inclusion is not an idea or some kind of a concept. It is how life is happening. It is the way existence is. If you vouch by the commonness of the universe as an intellectual idea, it actually causes damage to the individual. People do all kinds of silly things because they get this idea that everybody is one, before somebody teaches them a good lesson and then they see, "This is me, that is you. No way to be one." You will see, when things come down to even money — it does not even have to boil down to life and death — even for money, "This is me, that is you." The boundary is clear. There is no question of you and me being one.

Instead of being an intellectual idea, if inclusiveness becomes an experiential reality, it will not bring forth any immature action. It will bring forth a tremendous experience of life. Physically, there are boundaries and there have to be. There is something called "your house" and "their house," "my country" and "your country." Can we remove all these physical boundaries right now? The world is not mature enough to do such a thing yet. If such a thing happens, it would be fantastic but we are far away from that — very, very far. So we cannot remove the physical boundaries, but a human being is capable of looking beyond his physical boundaries. If you limit yourself to physical boundaries, your whole life will be dedicated to self-preservation and procreation and nothing else.

When we say spirituality, it means to take the experience of your life beyond your physical process. Once you take it beyond your physical process, boundaries don't mean anything. "This is me, that is you," "this is my house, this is your house" — these are physical boundaries to maintain the physical integrity of things. These are not the essence of being human. The whole process of spirituality is to raise one beyond his physical and individual limitations and make him an all-inclusive human being. At the same time it hugely equips the individual to be more efficient, more capable, more balanced and in turn more productive. This is good for business. This is good for the world.

WORD OF THE DAY

Schadenfreude

Pronunciation: SHAH-dun-froy-duh (noun).

Meaning: Schadenfreude refers to a feeling of enjoyment that comes from seeing or hearing about the troubles of other people.

Origin: Ever a popular lookup on our site, schadenfreude refers to the joy you might feel at another person's pain. It's a compound of the German nouns Schaden, meaning "damage," and Freude, meaning "joy." Schadenfreude was a favored subject in Germany by the time it was introduced to English in the mid-1800s; discussed by the likes of Schopenhauer, Kant, and Nietzsche, schadenfreude was showing up in psychology books, literature for children, and critical theory. In English, the word was used mostly by academics until the early 1990s, when it was introduced to more general audiences via pop culture. In a 1991 episode of The Simpsons, for example, Lisa explains schadenfreude to Homer, who is gloating at his neighbor's failure; she also tells him that the opposite of schadenfreude is sour grapes. "Boy," he marvels, "those Germans have a word for everything."

Example: "In 1995, Sox fans were overjoyed to see the Yankees get knocked out of the playoffs in a thrilling divisional series.... It was Boston schadenfreude, to be sure ..." — Chris Young, The Sun Chronicle (Attleboro, Massachusetts), 13 Sept. 2024.

Saltativeness

Ability to jump.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Sugar Daddy

Meaning: A "Sugar Daddy" is a wealthy (and usually older) man who supports and provides for a younger woman in exchange for companionship and/or other favours.

Origin: The word 'Sugar' has been a slang word for money and luxury since the mid-19th century, and defines the nature of the relationship between the couple. The word 'Daddy' was slang among prostitutes for an older man since the 16th century, and refers to the age difference between the two. The term "Sugar Daddy" has been used since the beginning of the 19th century, when Adolph Spreckels, heir to the Spreckel's sugar fortune, married a woman who was 24 years younger than him and called him "Sugar Daddy". However, the first recorded use was in 1923 in the Syracuse Herald in an episode of the story "Fat Anna's Future."

Example: Rachel — "Did you see Dana's new diamond ring?", Kelly—"Don't you know, her new sugar daddy bought it for her. I can't believe her, he is the same age as her father."
